

Judy: What are you looking at, Julie?

Julie: I'm looking at a map of Europe.

Judy: Are you going to go to Europe?

Julie: I don't know. My parents said that we might go to Europe next year.

Judy: Is Europe a big place?

Julie: Yes, there are many countries in Europe.

Judy: What countries do you want to see?

Julie: I want to see England, France, Italy, Spain, and Germany.

❖ Look at the map on page 73:

- Find the countries England, France, Italy, Spain, and Germany.
- Which country is the biggest? Which country is the smallest?
- Find your country on the map.
- What countries have you been to? Find them on the map.

Make a sentence: There are many _____ in _____.

You can also talk about things you don't like or don't want in the Present Tense. When the subject is He, She, or It, don't changes to doesn't, (but then you don't add -s to the verb).

I You We They	don't like don't want don't go don't need	ice cream. to go to school? to church. more pencils.
He She It	doesn't like doesn't want doesn't need	ice cream. to play soccer. more food.

Write don't or doesn't to complete each sentence below.

1. My mother _____ want to go shopping today.
2. Tom and Mike _____ have to go to school today.
3. Mary _____ feel good today, so she _____ have to go to school.
4. My pet dog _____ live in our house.
5. Dogs and cats _____ get along well.
6. If he _____ have a map, he won't know where to go.
7. That mountain _____ have any snow.
8. We _____ need to clean our room today.