

Music - Dialogue Strips

Can you turn the music down?

Why? Don't you like it?

I'm trying to talk on the telephone and I can't hear.

Sorry, I'll turn it down.

I have an extra ticket to tonight's Bob Dylan concert. Do you want to go?

How much is it?

It's $50, and they are good seats.

I've only got $40, but I can borrow $10 from my brother. Sure, let's go!

Food - Dialogue Strips

Would you like coffee or tea?

Coffee, please.

Milk and sugar?

Just milk, no sugar.

We have reservations for 7:00 at the Indian restaurant.

I thought we were having Chinese tonight.

We had Chinese on Monday night.

I know, but I like Chinese food better than Indian food.

Countries/Travel - Dialogue Strips

I need a vacation.

Why don't you take a trip?

I can't decide where to go.

Costa Rica is nice this time of year.

I just got back from Paris, and the jetlag is killing me.

You have to let it run its course.

I know, but I really want to sleep, and it's only 4:00.

Let's go and get some coffee.

Jobs - Dialogue Strips

Harry, can you step into the office please?

Sure. Is something wrong?

Due to recent cutbacks, I'm afraid we have to terminate your position.

I'm fired?

I need to find a new job.

There's a new restaurant opening soon. Maybe you could apply there.

I want to get out of the restaurant business.

You make great tips; why would you want to leave?
